

GNOC AN TURSA

CNOC AN TURSA
Folk Black Metal From Scotland

BIO

Cnoc An Tursa is a Scottish metal band forging a fierce union between black metal and the ancient spirit of Celtic heritage. Named after the Gaelic phrase meaning “Hill of Sorrow,” the band channels the weight of history, folklore, and the untamed Highland landscape into music that is both ferocious and deeply atmospheric. Blending blistering riffs, thunderous percussion, and raw, impassioned vocals with traditional melodies and pagan themes, Cnoc An Tursa stands at the crossroads of modern extreme metal and ancestral storytelling. Their sound evokes mist-shrouded glens, fallen kingdoms, and the enduring defiance of a land shaped by blood, stone, and legend. Lyrically and sonically, the band draws heavily on Scottish history and mythology creating songs that feel less like compositions and more like rituals—echoes of the past reborn in fire and steel. Proudly rooted in their cultural identity, Cnoc An Tursa carries the flame of Scotland’s ancient voice into the contemporary metal underground. Uncompromising, evocative, and steeped in heritage, Cnoc An Tursa is a battle cry from the old world, carved into sound.

REVIEW QUOTES

“A Cry For The Slain” is a deeply evocative and immersive journey through history, myth, and landscape. Bleeding black metal intensity with rich folk elements, CNOC AN TURSA craft a record that feels both powerful and profoundly authentic. It's an album that resonates long after it ends-like echoes carried across mist-covered hills, haunting, beautiful, and enduring.

Head Bangers Australia

This isn't just a comeback. This is a war cry echoing across mountains

The Riffn Report Blog

“...A ferocious, thunderously heavy fusion of celtic rock and black metal

Metal Hammer

“A Cry For The Slain” is an incredible record, graceful and ethereal but with an inherent darkness amongst it. Just stunning

The Killchain Metal Blog

"It's a tremendous achievement. It proves that Cnoc An Tursa can hold their own with the most savage of black metal bands but are also highly capable of dynamically changing momentums and intensity"
